

Medication Support

The Challenge

David has expressed a desire to take his medications more independently. He is capable of taking his medications independently. However, David needs support with keeping his medications organized and with having reminders for when it is time to take his medications.

David's support team is currently coming to his home three times per day with the primary task of making sure that he takes his medications on time.

Solutions

Using automated medication dispensers, David's trained support team members can pre-fill his medications to ensure that they are properly organized. Medication refills could also be completed by a pharmacy in his area.

Should David not access his medications on-time, he can receive a reminder, as can his support team. Medication compliance is also tracked through a secure website for periodic review by David's support team.
