

You need both Flu and the updated COVID vaccine!

Flu and COVID are different viruses, which means you need both vaccines to protect yourself and your family.

Annual flu shots are the best way to keep from getting flu each winter. And you can receive both vaccines at the same visit!

While people over the age of 65 and those who are immunocompromised are at most risk, anyone can become severely ill and face complications or even death from COVID or flu.

Call your doctor or pharmacist today to schedule an appointment for the vaccines you need.

You need both Flu and the updated COVID vaccine!

Flu and COVID are different viruses, which means you need both vaccines to protect yourself and your family.

Annual flu shots are the best way to keep from getting flu each winter. And you can receive both vaccines at the same visit!

While people over the age of 65 and those who are immunocompromised are at most risk, anyone can become severely ill and face complications or even death from COVID or flu.

Call your doctor or pharmacist today to schedule an appointment for the vaccines you need.

You need both Flu and the updated COVID vaccine!

Flu and COVID are different viruses, which means you need both vaccines to protect yourself and your family.

Annual flu shots are the best way to keep from getting flu each winter. And you can receive both vaccines at the same visit!

While people over the age of 65 and those who are immunocompromised are at most risk, anyone can become severely ill and face complications or even death from COVID or flu.

Call your doctor or pharmacist today to schedule an appointment for the vaccines you need.

You need both Flu and the updated COVID vaccine!

Flu and COVID are different viruses, which means you need both vaccines to protect yourself and your family.

Annual flu shots are the best way to keep from getting flu each winter. And you can receive both vaccines at the same visit!

While people over the age of 65 and those who are immunocompromised are at most risk, anyone can become severely ill and face complications or even death from COVID or flu.

Call your doctor or pharmacist today to schedule an appointment for the vaccines you need.